Undeliverable Packages

Sometimes a package cannot be delivered to you. This page explains why it happens, what we do next, and how and when you receive your refund.

Why a package becomes undeliverable

- The delivery address is incorrect or incomplete.
- The carrier could not reach you or find the address after multiple attempts.
- No one was available to receive the package at the delivery address.
- The package was refused at the time of delivery.
- The package was not collected from the pickup location within the allowed time.

What happens to an undeliverable package

The carrier usually makes several delivery attempts. If these are unsuccessful, the package is returned to the H&M fulfilment centre or to the seller. We will notify you by email or message when your package is on its way back.

Check your order status

Go to Your Orders to see the latest delivery status. If the status shows that delivery was attempted or that the package is being returned, you do not need to take any action.

If you believe the package was marked undeliverable by mistake, or you want to confirm the return details for an item sold by a third-party seller, Contact the seller.

Refund for undeliverable packages

Once H&M receives the returned package, your refund is processed to the original payment method. The time it takes depends on the refund method, as shown below.

H&M received the returned item

Credit Card / Debit Card	Up to 5 working days
UPI Linked Bank Account	Up to 5 working days
H&M Pay Balance	Up to 4 hours

Placing the order again

After the refund is issued, you can place a new order for the item if it is still available. Please confirm that your delivery address and contact number are correct before ordering.

Need more help?

If you have not received your refund within the timelines above, or have questions about a specific order, Contact the seller or reach out to Customer Service.